Budgetary Unit Criticizes Pay Scale Handling

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The State Personnel Department has run into criticism from Illinois Budgetary Commission members over handling of pay scales and job classifications for 33,000 state employees.

The commission withheld approval Thursday of the department's proposed 1959-61 budget totaling $215,168, an increase of $202,000.

Rep. Charles Willett (R-Dixon) said the department should be scrapped unless "drastic revisions are made. Willett expressed dissatisfaction with the hiring of temporary cooks at Dixon State School.

Sen. William Connor (D-Chicago), who has frequently attacked the department, also said it should be abolished. He suggested the various state department heads could do the job of hiring employees and fixing their salaries.

Critics contended that pay brackets set up under the Personnel Department and the provisions for periodic raises do not adequately take care of workers at lower salary levels.

Rep. Paul Powell (D-Vienna) upheld the department although he said it had made some mistakes. Powell said the personnel code, which has been in full operation 18 months, has encouraged persons to work for the state.

Powell was a member of the legislative commission which drafted the plan for revamping the Civil Service System and creating the Personnel Department. The department has responsibility over hiring and placement, classifications, pay, working conditions and merit tests for state workers.

The Budgetary Commission approved two-year budget requests of $239,910 for the State Labor Department and $7,276,673 for the Registration and Education Department. Both are up over appropriations for the current budget period ending next June 30.

Health Office Advises Three Polio Shots

The polio immunization survey being conducted by the Morgan County Health Department and the School District 117 has brought up a question of the necessity of immunizing those children who have already received some vaccine.

The Health Department has recommended three doses of the vaccine given at proper intervals. The proper intervals are defined as one to two months between the first and second doses, and five months to one year between the second and third doses. This is considered to be an "ideal" time schedule giving the maximum protection against paralytic poliomyelitis. This schedule is not rigid and inflexible as there can be some variation with some protection still gained.

The maximum protection cannot be assured, however, until the third dose is given. And to gain the best protection possible from the vaccine the schedule should be followed as closely as possible.

At the present time it is not known exactly how long this immunity is retained by the body. It is known that no harm can come from the vaccine, and coupled with a desire for protection against this crippling disease, a booster dose is recommended every two years.

The records of the children were examined before the program began and in any case where the immunizations were given at an interval the series was recommended to be started again.

Dr. James H. Chapman, county health director, said Friday "now that a vaccine is available to reduce the number of cases of paralytic poliomyelitis, we certainly want to stay safe here in Morgan County by gaining all protection possible."

Car-Train Collision At Church Street

Leon M. Preston, 25, 987 North Church St., escaped serious injury about 9:15 a.m. Friday when his 1957 Mercury collided with the engine of Train No. 98 at the Wabash Railroad crossing at North Church street.

Smith of Jacksonville was on duty at the time and was standing in the center of the intersection waving his stop sign, according to a report compiled by police. The train struck the right rear of the auto, throwing it against the watchman's shanty next to the crossing. The small building was badly damaged by the impact.

Captain Howard Stout and Patrolman Fred Splain attended at the scene of the accident. Preston was taken to Our Saviour's hospital by police car for treatment of two cuts on the right temple and shock. He was admitted to the hospital for further treatment. Present Safety Awards To Truck Drivers At Banquet

Over-the-road truck drivers of Anderson, Clayton & Co. attended the fourth annual safety meeting and dinner, Saturday night, at the Virginia Country Club. These annual meetings are held as a special commendation to those drivers who have earned safe driver awards. Awards recognized are the safe driver award of the National Safety Council which has been developed to the point that it has become the accepted "coat of arms" for the brotherhood of defensive drivers.

Paralleling this award, the winners also receive certificates of commendation from Anderson, Clayton & Co. with cash value as further recognition of superior job performance.

Individual awards earned over the past year and recognized at this meeting were: Lowell E. Turner, 4 year award; Donald W. Bennett, 3 year award; Robert G. Chute, 3 year award; Coover A. Barnard, 3 year award; Paul D. Cartney, 1 year award; Jack D. Wilhoit, 1 year award; Samuel L. Smith, 1 year award; and Donald H. Blumling, 1 year award.

Award winners were personally congratulated at the meeting by plant manager, Sam Pack and transportation foreman, George Skiptworth. Transportation supervisor, George Tebow, served as master of ceremonies. The guest speaker for the meeting was Frank R. Burrows, Jr., field service director for the Citizens Traffic Safety Board of Chicago.

Mr. Burrows pointed out that although safe driving is the most important part of every professional driver's job, some drivers accept the need for defensive driving more than others. His safety message to those attending the meeting was that the above mentioned awards prove that these professionals, through extra effort, such as developing safe driving attitude and greater driving skill, are able to avoid accidents.

Mr. Burrows very vividly pointed out three factual mistakes many motorists make which cause accidents:

1. Many assume the right-of-way when in fact the right-of-way must always be yielded before can proceed safely; 2. Many do not realize the distance needed to stop their vehicle; "You can not stop on a dime"; and 3. The yellow traffic control light means prepare to stop or start and not that the right-of-way has been yielded. Mr. Burrows challenged all drivers to remember these points, exercise safe driving courtesy at every opportunity and maintain the record of a professional driver.

Other guests included the wives of award winning drivers, Mrs. Pack, Mrs. Tebow, Mrs. Skiptworth, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Seestrom, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Wegehoff, Mr. and Mrs. David V. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett R. Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Currence, Mr. and Mrs. Emmitt P. Sims and Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Covey.

Mrs. Miller To Speak Sunday At Havana Church

Mrs. Gerald Miller of this city will speak at the First Christian church in Havana Sunday morning, Dec. 7. The occasion is Woman's Day, an annual event on the church calendar with emphasis on world-wide mission of the church. On Dec. 14 Mrs. Miller will speak at the Christian church in Roodhouse. Her subject for Sunday morning is "A Christian Woman's Responsibility."

Woman's Day was first observed in 1890, as a call to awaken interest and a kindling of enthusiasm for missionary work. It was sponsored by the women at that time, and still is to this day. Woman's Day is different from Mother's Day in that it is devoid of the sentimentality of Mother's Day, and is set aside as a day to face up to our responsibilities in a troubled world.

Locally it will be observed with Mrs. Gertrude H. Litchfield of this city as the subject, "For the Healing of the Nations." Mrs. Don Little, president of the Christian Women's Fellowship of Central Christian church will preside. She will be assisted in the services by other officers of the organization.

Explaining the intricacies of the actual Garick Club affair, the speaker traced the effect which the battle of investive, via the ink pot, had upon the literary career and personal life of each of the protagonists. Though there was a partial reconciliation shortly before Thackeray's death in 1863, the breach was never healed and the decision as to which was the greater writer was left to future generations to decide.

Dr. Ray Speaks As Sorosis Celebrates 90th Anniversary

Dr. Gordon N. Ray, provost and vice president of the University of Illinois and a scholar of renown in the field of Victorian literature, delighted the members of Sorosis and their guests on Wednesday evening.

He presented a scholarly address on "Dickens vs. Thackeray: The Garick Club Affair."

The occasion was the celebration of the 90th anniversary of Sorosis at a dinner complete with the traditional individual candle-plant puddings. The dinner was served at Baxter Hall, Illinois College. As guests of the society, members of the Club and Literary Union and their wives joined with members, husband and other guests in marking the birthday of Sorosis.

Welcoming the guests, Mrs. Richard Yates Rowe, the president spoke briefly of the early programs and anniversary parties of Sorosis, quoting from old minute books of the Victorian era. She referred to occasions in the early history of the society when the Club and Literary Union had joined with Sorosis in marking birthdays.

Dr. Ray's paper was interspersed with quotations from Thackeray and his literary associates which took his audience back to the club life of London one hundred years ago. He deftly sketched the background of the lives and professional attainments of Dickens and Thackeray, the difference in their fundamental philosophies, and the jealousies and bickering in print which were fanned and kept alive by partisans of each author, both in and outside of the Garick Club.

Explaining the intricacies of the actual Garick Club affair, the speaker traced the effect which the battle of investive, via the ink pot, had upon the literary career and personal life of each of the protagonists.
